"Body I"
80X70 cm, plaster cast, hair, 2005

"Reigen I" →
80X80 cm, oil on canvas, 2008

"I don't want to reproduce what I have seen, but to convert my own ideas and fantasies. These ideas should start to grow on canvas, should be changed and stay in movement. You can find shapes and figures behind the visible surface (free interpretation of the statements of Paul Klee). However I am giving the focus on special themes and using not only fantasy, but as well spirit. If the collectors want to create their own artwork, it is possible. They should try to see the picture or sculpture not only once, but two or three times to find different views. I am sure they will find a totally different artwork. Creativity, fantasy and visions start to live and in the end it is not only the artists', but as well the collectors' product."
